FUNDED RESEARCH

- Principal Investigator, Dynamic Government: Adopting Agile to Enhance Successful Public Projects, funded by The IBM Center for the Business of Government, 2017-18 [Amount: $20,000].
The project focuses on adopting Agile methods in the state and local government agencies.
- Co-Principal Investigator, Is Transparency the Best Disinfectant? A Meta-Analysis of the Effect of Transparency on Government Corruption. Funded by Open Government Partnership, 2017 [Amount $10,000]. (PI: Can Chen)
The project was to undertake a meta-analysis of the relationship between transparency and corruption in the public sector.
- Principal Investigator, Mobile Apps in the Public Sector, funded by The IBM Center for the Business of Government, 2013 [Amount: $20,000].
The project focuses on the emerging use of mobile apps at the federal, state, and the local levels in the United States.
- Co-Principal Investigator, The Resilient Rural America: Drivers of speedy and high quality recovery following a disaster, funded by National Science Foundation, 2010-2014 [Amount: $359,854]. (PI: Nazife Emel Ganapati; Co-PI: Shaoming Cheng)
The study's objective is to advance scientific research on enhancing disaster resilience in rural areas by developing a new, multi-faceted place-based Rural Vulnerability and Resilience Index, identifying the consequences of vulnerability and resilience, and developing policy options for rural areas on enhancing disaster resilience.
- Principal Investigator, Use of Dashboards in Public Organizations, funded by The IBM Center for the Business of Government, 2010 [Amount: $20,000].
The project focuses on the emerging use of dashboards for "open government" at the federal, state, and the local levels in the United States.
- Principal Investigator, Regional Entrepreneurship and Innovation Systems: Policy Lessons from Helsinki and Seoul, 2010 Kauffman Professors funding by the FIU Eugenio Pino and Family Global Entrepreneurship Center, 2010 [Amount: $7,500]
The main goal of the project is to examine government's role in enhancing regional entrepreneurship and innovation in Helsinki (Finland) and Seoul (South Korea), in order to draw policy lessons applicable to regions in the United States.
- Principal Investigator, Enabling Citizen Participation in Local Government through Geospatial Web Applications, funded by The IBM Center for the Business of Government, 2009 [Amount: $20,000].
The project examined the use of Geospatial Web applications in e-government, particularly for enhancing citizen participation in delivering services at the local government level.
- Principal Investigator, Housing Crisis in South Florida, funded by Florida International University Foundation (2006 Faculty Research Award), 2006-2007 [Amount: $18,500].
The research examined the regional spatial spillovers of housing crisis in South Florida using GIS methods.
- Principal Investigator, Pilot Project: Impact of 2005 Hurricane Season on HIV/ AIDS Health Services in Miami Dade County: A GIS Analysis, funded by Florida International University's Latino HIV/AIDS Behavioral Science Center, 2006-2007 [Amount: $18,625].

The research focused on the spatial impact of the 2005 hurricanes in Miami-Dade County using GIS methods. It examined the spatial disparity between the HIV/AIDS patients and the service providers, particularly among the minority communities.

- Principal Investigator, Access Indonesia, funded by U.S. Department of Education (Technological Innovation and Cooperation for Foreign Information Access Program), subcontracted from University of Southern California, 2004-2006 [Amount: $20,000]. The main objective of the project was to foster a fuller interdisciplinary understanding of Indonesia by using advanced internet technology (e.g. Web-GIS, Multimedia).
- Co-Director, Access Indonesia, (Principal Investigator: Koichi Mera, University of Southern California), funded by U.S. Department of Education (Technological Innovation and Cooperation for Foreign Information Access Program), 2002-2004 [Agency Funding: $585,000]. The main objective of the project was to foster a fuller interdisciplinary understanding of Indonesia by using advanced internet technology (e.g. Web-GIS, Multimedia).
- Assistant Director, U.S.–Indonesia Conflict Resolution Exchange (US-INDO CRX) Program, (Principal Investigator: Koichi Mera, University of Southern California), funded by U.S. Department of State (Bureau of Economic and Cultural Affairs), 2003-2006 [Amount: $174,929]. The main goal of the project was to promote exchange between local government officials in the United States and Indonesia on the use of arbitration and reconciliation techniques. We organized workshops in both the United States and Indonesia to build capacity for conflict resolution among the local government officials.
- Assistant Director, World Development Map, (Principal Investigator: Koichi Mera, University of Southern California), funded by Center for International Studies, University of Southern California, 2001-2002 [Amount: $2,500]. The main goal of the project was to develop a Web-GIS based world map depicting major development indicators (e.g. Gross National Product, Urbanization, and Health).
- Research Associate, Resource Mapping Special Initiative, (Principal Investigator: Tridib Banerjee, University of Southern California), funded by Los Angeles County Department of Mental Health, 2001 [Amount: $20,000]. The main goal of the project was to map (using Web-GIS) the mental health resources of the Special District 7 in Los Angeles County.
- Research Associate, Loss of Community in the Desert Region Water Pumping Plants, (Principal Investigator: Tridib Banerjee, University of Southern California), funded by Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, 1999 [Amount: $5,000]. The main goal of the project was to study the loss of community due to housing attrition in the pumping plants owned by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.
